THINKING OUT LOUD

By H. M. L., SR.

Our schools will open Tuesday ember 7th, the day after Labor To all practical purposes, the "reluctant school boy," of whom the poet sings, no longer exists. He wends his way to school eagerly. In this modern, hustling age, he may not sense completely the necessity of acquiring an education, but there is undoubtedly the urge of his gregarious and his social nature to remove the reluctance that once characterized his trek of back to school.

Perhaps we owe much of this eager beaver attitude of the normal school child. to the women teachers that now predominate in the schools. The class rooms are not as barren as they were. There is a "homey" feeling in the school rooms. Pictures adorn the walls. The little tads trim their window sills with cut-outs of flowers in pots. The eighth graders often find classical, historical and architectural studies on their walls. The Parent Teachers Association takes a hand in making the school beautiful, and a pleasant place for a child to be. The impact of the multiplication table is softened. Geography becomes a kind of game. Spelling is not crammed into young, sleek heads, it creeps in, along with reading and writing. It becomes an easy habit instead of an intolerably hard grind.

In the old days school was rather different. Most of the teachers in grade and high schools were men. There was more emphasis on dicipline. Instant obedience was a prized virtue. The boy that studied hard, and "got his lessons" was apt to win a reward at the end of the school term. This of course, would be looked upon now-a-days as bribing the students to be good, diligent and orderly.

Punishment of refractory students was of two sorts. For minor offenses, loss of recess playtime was inflicted. For major offences, such as disobedience, or tripping one's fellow students when they filed out, a hickory stick was vigorously administered. There was no parley preceding the punishment. The storm came up suddenly and vanished as quickly. The child bellow loudly, as a rule, hoping thereby to moderate the blows of the stick, but when it was over, no more was said. The sobs subsided and presently the one who had been punished was playing dare-base in the yard with other children.

We still think a good stick has its educational values, but we note that it is now rarely administered. Other and gentler means are used to preserve order The teaching profession in general abhors corporal punishment as being too crude. We do suspect, however, that male teachers rather enjoyed giving the hickory to big, tough, farm boys, who had little dicipline at home. This, the rest of the school were treated to a spectacle that was far from uplifting, but nevertheless a part of the life that they knew. Behave well, study hard, conduct yourself as much like the teacher as you could, and you got a reward. Break the rules, play around in school hours, and you were punished. It was as inevitable as that night follows day.

The students had no extras in the way of education. They were taught arithmetic, writing, reading, spelling, geography and history. They were made to study when they did not naturally incline to it. They moved from one class to the one above when they completed their work. Their examinations were usually oral but in geography and history the examinations were written. Now-a-days we often think schools are regimented, but they are never so much so as they were 50 years ago. A child that excelled in arithmetic was often deficient in history. But the teacher made no allowances for differing aptitudes. If a student was poor in any one subject, that subject he was forced to study and master if possible.

Whether the schools are actually better today than a half century ago, it would be hard to say, but considering needs of those times probably the schools were as well adapted to them as they are now. We do know that high school was looked upon much as college is today. The child that went on from the grades to high school was regarded as one favored of brains and money. For in a farming community, when a boy had finished the eighth grade he was generally regarded as a man, ready for the work, and plenty of it, on the farm.

LIONS EAT STEAK

GRASS VALLEY: The Grass Valley Lions Club last evening gave their annual broiled steak dinner in White Cloud, 10 miles east of Nevada City in the Tahoe Forest picnic and camping grounds.

The wives and families of members were invited to the event. Arnold Thorsen was chairman in charge of arrangements.

FARM BUREAU TO CELEBRATE 30TH BIRTHDAY THIS NOVEMBER

NEVADA CITY: The California Farm Bureau Federation, largest farm organization in the western states, will celebrate its 30th birthday this coming November.

The Federation's 30th annual convention, according to E. L. Bierwagen, president of the Nevada County Farm Bureau, will be held in Sacramento, and will be representative of more than 53,000 members.

Federation President Ray B. Wiser is now arranging the convention program, Bierwagen said, and it promises to be the most attractive yet presented by the organization.

Officials and members, representing 50 County Farm Bureaus, will lead the large delegations to the convention, with attendance expected to braak all prvious records.

Business highlight of the annual meeting will be the adoption of resolutions upon which policies, activities and programs of the organization are based.

Bierwagen stressed the significance of the part played by "grass roots" resolutions in determining the Farm Bureau's policies.

"In no other organization," he said, "do the wishes and desires of members wield such an influence as they do in Farm Bureau."

"In every sense, it can be truly said that the membership controls and directs the affairs of Farm Bureau."

MORE WORK ON DOWNIEVILLE HIGHWAY

NEVADA CITY: George T. McCoy, state highway engineer, has informed the California Highway Commission that the Division of Highways in co-operation with the U. S. Public Roads Administration and the U. S. Forest Service has approved for immediate construction another piece of construction of the Downieville Road, or Highway 49.

The new improvement will be 14 miles in length and will extend from Wilson's Cabin to the Yuba-Sierra County line and will include the difficult Depot Hill section. McCoy estimates the cost will be $450,000.

In his report McCoy said: "The extensive hauling of logs and lumber in the forest area adjacent to the highway, together with increasing normal traffic, makes these improvements an immediate necessity."

ANGELO "PIKE" SOLARI NOT DEAD AFTER ALL

NEVADA CITY: Angelo Solari is not dead, as reported, but very much alive as he was seen walking down Broad Street Saturday. He even walked into the Nugget office and showed himself as healthy, hale and hearty.

A week ago last Wednesday he was supposed to have died in Marysville of a heart attack and to have been buried last Friday in the Catholic Cemetery in Nevada City. They did bury a man in the family plot in that cemetery. Who that body was has not yet been determined. Angelo Solari phoned his brother John, to tell him that he was not dead, but John was too frightened to listen . . . he thought he heard the voice of a ghost and quickly hung up the receiver.

The buried man had a stroke and was taken to the County Hospital at Marysville, where he died three days later without gaining consciousness. Mrs. Wellman Hill, a friend, identified the body as that of Angelo Solari, hence the mix up.

On her word, the chief of police of Marysville phoned the chief of police at Vallejo to contact Elizabeth Solari, sister of Angelo, and also sent a telegram to the chief of police at Susanville to John Solari, so John went to Marysville, identified the body as his brother, Angelo, and arranged to have him buried.

But sister Elizabeth was unconvinced that the body was that of her brother, and told John to go ahead and bury the body if he wanted to, but she said, "That is not our brother."

Another friend went to Angelo's ranch in Sierraville to look after some horses of Angelo's, but lo and behold, he found Angelo walking among them! It was then that Angelo phoned John and refuted the story of his death, of which, up to then, he had been in ignorance.

Yuba County's sheriff and coroner's offices are seeking the identity of the man buried here in the Catholic Cemetery under the name of Angelo Solari.

The social security number of the dead man, who was found dying in Marysville's streets, is reported to have been tatooed on his forearm. Angelo Solari is a stage driver of Sierraville, Sierra County, and sometimes a cowboy in the adjacent valley. The body interred here was reportedly identified by his brother John of Susanville, Lassen County.

The body still lies in the Solari plot here, but will be exhumed when Marysville authorities establish the dead man's identity.

GOLD DIGGER'S TRAIL

Charles Scott Haley

The weather had come back to normal, and the sun was hot in a copper-hued sky. There was no water on the long and dusty hike, but we had a canteen between us. Late that night, tired and sorefooted, we pulled into Humboldt House and had our first bit of luck. A freight train was just pulling out westerly, and we boned a ride from one of the brakeman as far as Lovelock.

Early next morning we arrived at Lovelock and went into a warm saloon and sat till daybreak. With seven dollars capital, we decided to wait here until I could write to some of my friends in Tonopah and ask for a job for all of us.

We found a tent boarding house where beds with blankets were fifteen cents a night; with sheets and blankets, twenty-five cents—and with pillows and full equipment, fifty cents. Needless to say, we took the bare cots with blankets. I wrote immediately to two friends—and as luck would have it, both were away in San Francisco. While waiting for answers which never came, we conserved our food. Fifteen cents was allotted for each meal, and as we were all strong and husky eaters, we were hungry all the time.

Roulette wheels were everywhere; and when we felt the need of extra sustenance, we would place a dime on the red or black. If we lost, we went hungry—if we won, we had an extra stack of hotcakes.

Lovelock valley is full of alfalfa stacks and mos-

FINNEGAN RAPS BEALE BOMBING VIOLATIONS

NEVADA CITY: Frank G. Finnegan, attorney for the Nevada-Yuba County Land Owners Association, which is making an effort to have the government declare the Camp Beale military reservation surplus property, reported that information received by the association shows that the bombardier school which has taken over the reservation frequently violates the safety rules, which the Army had promised would be strictly enforced.

He states that the bombardiers frequently drift more than 20 miles when making their turns, and that the highway, only a mile from the outer limits of the target area, might easily receive a bomb, since they are discharged from a height of 14,000 feet.

Instead of an area of 400 acres cleared of grass around each target, the area approximates 1,400 acres, according to reports, Finnegan states, indicating that the directors of the target practice anticipate a much greater variation in the "hits" than had first been anticipated.

Finnegan declares that the association still insists that the government could make a great saving by using desert land for target practice, and he stated that the Air Force has recently taken over 3,500,000 acres for this purpose in Texas.

It is the hope of all those interested in the swim program that all young people will continue to practice what they learned this summer so that next summer they will be able to pass the requirements for the next higher certificate.

There were no awards won by members of the evening adult class though it was felt that Violet Armstrong would have passed the test for beginner if illness had not kept her from the pool on the last night. The other class members tried to improve their strokes, including correct breathing, practiced diving, learned how to handle a canoe, and last but not least, swam to music.

When free from movie commitments, MacMurray makes a point of visiting various California fairs, where his stock is on exhibit.

Al V. Gomez, manager of the Val Verde Ranch, will play an important part in the fair. A breeder and trainer of thoroughbreds, he is well known to those connected with the horse-breding industry in the west.

Gomez will superintend livestock exhibits and will act as judge for the Gold Trail Riders Horse Show, which will be presented as a grandstand attraction August 27th and 28th.

John Walter Mails, hero of the Cleveland baseball club's drive to the 1920 pennant, and now promotional director for the Shipstads and Johnson Winterland, in San Francisco, will be on hand to assist in the capacity of master of ceremonies.

Nearly all consignments of purebred cattle, both dairy and beef breeds are now in their stalls on the Nevada County Fairgrounds.

Herd superintendents were busy yesterday grooming their cattle in preparation for the judging which begins tomorrow at 10 A. M. Notable among the herds were dairy cows and sires from Barnegatt Ranch, Nevada County, which shows spectacular specimens of Golden Guernseys, Brown Swiss herds, Milking Shorthorns. Several herds of beef cattle, notably Herefords, were being shown. Most of these cattle will appear in the State Fair when it opens.

Gates to the fair will swing open this evening at 6 P. M. on the 76-acre park recently acquired by the 17th Agricultural District Association. All told, some 475 entries of livestock have been made, including cattle, sheep and goats. Seventy three horses are registered in state events of the horse show alone. A total of 2,557 awards have been prepared.

NUGGET RECIPES

People who write stories are always looking for what they call a "new angle." Just like cooks, journalist, too, have to serve up their fare in a new and different way if they're to keep up interest in what they do. How about a brand "new angle" on salad making for these summer salad days? For a beauty of a salad, try bananas as the main ingredient. Not only do bananas have pleasant flavor and texture, but they also offer sturdy nutrition vlues. This fruit from the tropics has vitamin A, C and the B group, eleven essential minerals and food energy. Besides that—and important to summer cookery where a salad is often a main dish rather than a side dish—bananas have satiety value. Satiety value is the scientist's phrase for the feeling of having eaten something really substantial after a meal.

"NEW ANGLE" ON SALADS POINTS TO BANANAS

Now for that new, new salad built with bananas. It's called Banana Pineapple Criss Cross Salad because it offers a neat little serving trick to make it attractively different. Actually, there is little more effort to making this salad than peeling a banana—and that's probably about the easiest thing there is!

For this salad, you'll want bananas that are fully ripe, at the peak of flavor and ready digestibility. There's and easy way to determine whether a banana is fully ripe. Bananas you find at your store may have all-yellow peel or yellow peel that is slightly green-tipped. These bananas will ripen obligingly right in your own home. Leave them out at room temperature (not in the refrigerator as a low temperature arrests the ripening process) until the brown flecks appear to announce full ripeness.

Banana Pineapple Criss Cross Salad

1 ripe banana
2 slices canned pineapple
Berries or cherries
Salad greens

Peel and cut banana lengthwise into quarters. Place two quarters on salad plate, crossing one over the other. Cut through one side of pineapple slice and twist into S shape so it will stand upright where the banana pieces cross. Place a cluster of cherries or a mound of berries beside the banana. Serve with French dressing. Garnish with salad greens. Makes two servings.

ICE CREAM AND MERINGUES

Dainty as an angel's wing are little meringue shells you can make easily at home and fill last minute before serving with scoops of packaged ice cream. A make-in-the-morning, set-aside-'til-dinner scheme, meringue shells are made with egg whites (don't you often have some extra ones on hand?) and baked in the slowest of ovens for just about the time it takes you to do your first round of morning tasks.

Packaged Ice Cream A Simple Filling

At eve. you'll fill those dainty meringue shells with ice cream conveniently purchased in a parafined carton. No waiting while the clerk fills a container for you. Packaged ice cream is always ready to go for the easiest and prettiest of desserts to serve at home. While vanilla ice cream will give you a snowy cool-looking dessert in your meringue shells, you might also occasionally try some of the delicious pastel tinted ice creams like strawberry to fill these shells. They're as pretty a picture as ever greeted a weary homecomer on a hot day ,and thy're so easy to serve, thanks to their packaged ice cream filling, that you'd need not reserve them for "company."

3 egg whites
¼ teasp. cream of tartar
¾ cup sugar

Beat egg whites until foamy. Add salt and cream of tartar; beat until eggs are stiff but not dry. Add the sugar, two tablespoons at a time, and continue beating until very stiff. Cover baking sheet with heavy brown paper. Pile meringue into 6 rounds about 3 inches in diameter. Make a 2 inch depression in center. Bake in a very slow oven (275°F.) 1 hour. When cool. remove from paper. Fill with your favorite flavored ice cream. Yield: 6 servings.

Samuel Colt patented his revolver in 1835 and commenced its manufacture at Hartford.

Why most telephone trouble stops before it starts

1. Imagine a vacuum cleaner in a central office . . . actually it's one of our important tools. For keeping equipment working perfectly means keeping equipment perfectly clean. The vacuum sucks up the specks of dust that might make a tiny electrical contact fail . . . just when you need it. And we stop trouble other ways, too.

2. While you sleep this new electronic tester is at work . . . combing over circuits to see if it can spot a "leak" in the office or out on the lines. For even the best-insulated cables now and then allow moisture from rain or fog to creep in. By recording current loss on the lines, the tester checks loss of efficiency that might mean future trouble.

3. "Trouble detectives" are at work constantly, inspecting cables and lines and following up the clues given them by this testing equipment. These are just a few examples of our preventive maintenance . . . part of our job of making your telephone service dependable, ready to go to work for you when you need it . . . as often as you need it.

4. When you make a telephone call you hire a mighty valuable servant. And that servant is more useful than ever before. For the number of telephones on the Coast has almost doubled in the past ten years. We're hard at it to provide more and better service for more people. And each new telephone added makes your telephone that much more valuable.

quitos in the summer season, and during the daytime, Boots had an idea. "Why waste fifteen cents a night on beds?", he said. "Let's pick out a good warm haystack and sleep in it." So that afternoon we picked out a likely looking stack, and after dark we walked out of town, and crawling through a fence, we settled ourselves down in the hay for a nap. Half starved and cold —for the night air was bitter still—I dozed off, and so did my comrades.

It must have been after midnight when some one [illegible] stepped on my face. I heard my partners cussing and soon we were wide awake. A band of half a dozen hobos had spotted our same haystack and, lately arrived, ,were pre-empting what they could find for themselves. They all had blankets—we had nothing but cockleburrs down our necks.

About three o'clock in the morning, we gave up the struggle and came back to our stove in the saloon to warm up. Next day we went back, chastened, to our fifteen cent bunks.

As a long shot in the dark, I had written to one of my house brothers who was staying for summer session in Berkeley, and reminded him that he owed me ten dollars, and if ever he was to pay it, now was the time.

When that money came in, it was salvation, and we ate our first good meal since leaving camp. No answer had come from Tonopah, and we made up our minds we would go home to Berkeley and make a fresh start for the summer, nearer home. Not one of us would have lowered himself to write home to our parents for money, so the only possible route was to hobo our way.

Veterans' News

Veterans Administration officials estimate four out of five veteran widows who are suddenly faced with the necessity of filing claims for pensions find themselves unable to lay hands immediately upon copies of public records necessary to establish the claims.

One of the most important steps a married veteras or serviceman can take to protect his wife and children in case of his death is to place on file a certified copy of the public record of marriage, together with complete certified records of previous marriages of himself and wife. Copies of birth certificates of any children should also be obtained.

Many a tragic delay in settling the pension claim of a veteran's widow has resulted because the widow or her dead husband had been married previously and adequate proof of the dissolution of that marriage was produced only after a long and painful search.

There is the case of an army officer who was killed in the Pacific. His widow filed a claim for pension with the Veterans Administration. The officer's army record showed he had been married before to another woman, but there was no indication the marriage had been dissolved.

Before the widow's claim can be settled, the VA must trace down the facts of that previous marriage to make sure it was dissolved and the widow was legally the officer's wife at the time of his death. This may mean searching the records in each county in which the officer lived during his first marriage.

Veterans and service men owe it to their loved ones to insure that necessary records are readily available in case of death.

Question: What supporting evidence must be furnished by a widow or child in order to claim a death pension?

Asswer: Proof of legal relationship of widow (marriage and dissolution of prior marriages of both spouses) and proof of legal relationship of child or acknowledgement of child by veteran.

Question: May death pension be paid to a widow who has remarried?

Answer: No. She loses all status as a widow of her previous husband upon remarriage.

Question: Why is it necessary to submit proof of legal relationship when this evidence was on my husband's military service records?

Answer: The statement on military records is not considered sufficient evidence for a court of law. No investigation is made by the military of legality of the marriage or legal dissolution of previous marriages, either of yourself or your husband. These facts must be established by authenticated copies of public records.

Catherine Weber Wed To Louis Tassone

NEVADA CITY: Miss Catherine Weber was married last Saturday morning to Louis John Tassone in St. Canice Catholic Church at a rarely celebrated nuptial high mass during which they exchanged vows in a double ring ceremony.

Rosemary O'Brien, a close friend of the bride from Missoula, Montana, was maid of honor, while best man was Salvatore Tassone, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Barry Gill and Salvatore Tassone, Jr.

The choir singing a centuries-old Gregorian chant was led by Evelyn Corr accompanied on the organ by Elise DeMattei. A wedding breakfast was served in Faup's Cafe and at one o'clock the bride and bridegroom were given a reception in the Parish Hall. Serving wedding refreshments were Mrs. Gladys Ohme, Mrs. Carl Noren, and Mrs. Frank Notterman. Following their honeymoon the couple will reside in Grass Valley.

The bride is the daughter of Edward Weber of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Cost of Aid To Needy Goes Up

NEVADA CITY: Direct payments for relief to the needy in Nevada County for 1947-48 totalled $450,420, 42 per cent more than the $317,114 paid out in the county for relief during 1945-46, the first postwar year. California Taxpayers' association reported to day. Relief paid out in the county during 1946-47 amounted to $362,451.

Included in the relief paid out in the county for 1947-48 was $394,640 for aid to the needy aged, $17,418 for aid to the needy blind, $32,175 for aid to dependent children, and $6,187 for general county relief—the catchall for people not eligible for other kinds of relief.

Vets Take Advantage Of State Home Purchase Plan

SACRAMENTO: A total of 343 California veterans took advantage during July of the State's low-interest plan to purchase farms and homes, a slight increase over the June figure, the State Department of Veterans Affairs announced today.

The State advanced $2,267,596 to 338 veterans for the purchase of homes, an average of $6,709; and $47.100 on the total cost of five farms, and average of $9,420. In addition, $34,370 was advanced to 84 veterans for repairs and remodeling.

The current interest rate paid by eligible veterans buying homes or farms under the State plan is 3 per cent.

A total of 29,086 veterans of World Wars I and II have participated in the plan since it went into operation in 1922, representing an aggregate State outlay of more than $146,000,000, over half of which has been repaid.

Keith Marsh, Kenneth Ronningen, Enlist In Army Here

NEVADA CITY: Keith Marsh and Kenneth Ronningen, two 18 year olds of this city, have enlisted in the U. S. Army and will soon go to Fort Lewis, Washington.

Marsh is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Marsh of this city. The boys were first taken to Fort Ord, San Luis Obispo County, where they were given aptitude tests.

From 1849 to 1851, San Francisco was devastated six times by fire with a collective loss of $24,000,000 of property.

State Fair To Feature Fire Fighting Contest

SACRAMENTO: Adding to the Centennial atmosphere at the California State Fair, at Sacramento, September 2 through 12, two honorary fire companies will fight fires the same way earlier members of the companies did nearly a century ago in the Mother Lode country.

Ned Green, secretary-manager of the Fair, announced today that Columbia will send "Old Papette", the oldest piece of fire fighting equipment in the state still in use, into competition with another hand pumper manned by a fire company from San Andreas.

Columbia's fire company, which was formed in 1850 and is credited with being the oldest company in active service in the state, challenged the San Andreas company to a fire-fighting contest, and the acceptance was prompt and belligerent. The two companies will vie at putting out a fire which will be started in a small wooden building in front of the State Fair grandstand.

Columbia's hand-pumper was acquired in 1852 and is still equipped with original leather hose made of buffalo hides. The engine was built in Boston, Mass., and was sent by Clipper Ship around the horn to San Francisco in 1852, enroute to the Sandwich Islands, for use by Papeete, king of the Islands. Gold Rush shipping schedules were irregular, and after several months delay, San Francisco Fire Chief Scanlon decided Columbia needed the equipment more than King Papeete did. He authorized its sale to the Mother Lode city, which honored the king by naming the pumper "Old Papeete." The San Andreas pumper also is nearly a century old.

Also adding color to the Centennial Theme if the Fair will be the finals of the "Portraits of the Pioneers" contest: a display of old-time vehicles along the Mall.

Drivers should be heard if not seen on mountain roads, particularly when approaching a blind curve. The state law, in fact, requires that an audible warning be given when the driver's view is obstructed within a distance of 200 feet.

Just Wonderin'

I Wonder about children now, the good ones and the bad ones,
The studious and the thoughtful too,
The merry and the glad ones.

I Wonder why we so often speak disparagingly of the modern child, and make such sweeping assertions about him. Of course the modern child is in many ways different to the models that prevailed in our childhood days. There were no movies, radios, no automobiles. Our parents were not addicted to cocktail parties and we heard little of "juvenile delinquency."

The immaculate children of other days were taught to be seen, not heard, today the child is encouraged to speak his mind and sometimes pearls of wisdom fall from his lips. Let's remember that he is the product of his home and his school; his world is no more like the world of long ago than black is like white. Of one thing we may be sure, the modern child can not be explained by sweeping generalities; to paraphrase an old line, he is "good and bad, he is weak and strong, wise, foolish and so were we."

Once in the days before the first world war, a California journalist placed his pen to paper and wrote, "they say that the modern child does not respect his elders; well, when I look at some of the elders, durned if I blame 'em." Yes, indeed, the irrepressible youngster, who had no regard for the opinions of his elders, existed in the "good old days" and the boys and girls of all life's yesteryears, were good or bad as the case might be. Perhaps some of our predjudiced opinions of children of today, are explained by the fact that, in our passing days, the errors of childhood are well advertised, while the good children and their deeds, too often pass unnoticed.

It might be well to recall our own childhood days and think for a time of mischievous acts committed by the children we used to know. After all we were not perfect—far from it. "What do you think of a ten year old boy who broke into a house?" said a dear friend to me but a few days ago. "Oh," I replied, "when I was a sweet young thing of seven years, I and my eight year old boy cousin broke into a house. To be sure it was a vacant house, but we broke in. You see, someone told us that the house was haunted and we wanted to see what made a ghost tick."

Look back into those halcyon days of old. I ven-

GARDEN IRRIGATION ADVICE GIVEN BY U. C.

BERKELEY: From the agriculturists of the University of California comes some timely advice to home gardeners regarding irrigation during the summer and fall months.

In preparing the soil for seeding, the garden should be sprinkled long enough to moisten the soil to a depth of 12 inches, and worked as soon as the soil no longer clings to the tool. Sandy soil can usually be worked one to two days after watering; loam three to four; and clay five to seven.

Immediately after seeding, the soil should be sprinkled to a depth of about three inches, and kept moist by sprinkling it every day or two. After the plants are up, the watering can become less frequent, but more water should be used at each irrigation.

As to transplanting. the College of Agriculture suggests setting the plants is holes in moist soil, pressing the soil firmly around the roots, applying half a pint of water to each plant and covering the wetted ground with dry soil.

In order to gauge the depth of water penetration, small open cans should be placed at various distances from the sprinkler. One inch of water in the can corresponds to 12 inches of penetration in sandy soil, six to eight inches in loam, and four to five inches in clay.

Poison oak may be killed by the use of 2, 4_D as a spray if it is applied is the spring just after the leaves appear and before the plant blossoms, according to the University of California College of Agriculture.

ture to say that there is not one of us who cannot recall some childish act which if we had been psycho-analyzed might have banded us as young culprits, of one sort or another.

I think that the guilt of juvenile delinquency should be laid at the door of parents and teachers; They too have changed with the passing years; but it is still they who furnish examples which children follow and it is their privilege and duty to see that these examples are worthy ones. By all means let's stop branding the modern child with such relentless vigor and turn our attention to the influences which make him what he is or is not.

Uncle Silas says: "When I consider the life and temperament of G. B. Shaw, I'm reminded of that old bromide, 'the good die young.'"

SUPERVISORS HEAR TALKS ON OAKLAND SCHOOL SEPARATION

NEVADA CITY: The Nevada County Board of Supervisors, after hearing arguments for and against the proposal to divide the present Oakland (Gold Flat) school district between Grass Valley and the Oakland districts, postponed their decision until the first meeting in September.

C. E. Rogers, spokesman for the proponents of division, declared that the district which it is proposed to add to that of Grass Valley, is 95 percent in favor of it. Forty-three children will be affected. It is proposed to send these to the Grass Valley schools.

Rogers stated that three factors were involved: the fact that many of the children had to cross the highway twice, which their parents considered hazardous. the high school tax. and the lack of adequate preparation for caring for a greatly increased enrollment in the Oakland school district.

The tax this year for the Oakland school is $2.34 per $100 in assessed value, the highest school tax in Nevada County, as compared with $1.65 for the Grass Valley district.

The school board of the Oakland district and many of the tax payers oppose the movement to divide the district. Jack Townsend, president of the board, was present and disclosed the board had leased a part of the large school grounds to Dr. Harry March, who proposed to build additional school rooms and permit the district to pay for it on a lease contract.

To Whom It May Concern:

My wife was in bed with arthritic rheumatism and no remedy helped her until we got Isbell's Mineral .I spent over $250 with different doctors and $20 worth of this Mineral brought her out of bed and back to health.

H. K. FUNK, 524 North 4th Street

To Whom It May Concern:

We are so happy to give this testimony In part, what Prof. Isbell's Mineral has done for us. My husband, after suffering twelve years with colitis, has been completely cured —no more constipation. It did not cure arthritis of 15 years standing but did help, for which he is so thankful. By using cotton dampened in full strength of Mineral, cured a cancer on my mother's forehead in two weeks which had been very bad for six months, nothing fazing it she could use.

In case of burns, apply mineral. It almost quits burning immediately. Have found the female capsules to do just what Prof. Isbell says they will. A wonderful relief. The truth of it is, I never want to be without the mineral in my home.

We are very thankful to Prof. Isbell for being able to get and use his mineral.

Mr. C. A. Isbell:

I enclosed $20.00 for 40 packages of mineral. If you remember I wrote you about a growth that was half over my eyes. I used a few drops of mineral water in an eye glass of water. The eye doctor says the growth is completely gone. Now I want to use it for sore tonsils and gums and fibroid tumors.

Mr. C. A. Isbell,
Dear Sir:

Received your letter and am enclosing a Cashiers Check for $31.00 and would you send me 50 packages as soon as possible. Mr. Isbell, the last time I sent for your mineral was to Colfax in 1937. I can vouch for the mineral has helped me, and I wish to commence taking it as soon as it arrives.

P. S. Mr. Isbell, I know that I cannot be cured as I have Arthritis Rheumatism now for 46 years but got wonderful relief from the mineral and that is a God's Blessing.

Thanking you for same.

MRS. MARTHA KOUNTZ

I was under the doctor's care with a cancer on the side of my left cheek, for a year, but got worse. I went to Prof. C. A. Isbell and got his mineral, it cured me in about two months and it was just about the size of a half dollar on the outside and had eaten into my face almost an inch.

SAM SULLIVAN, Rio Linda, Calif.

To Whom Concerned:

Greetings: Following a history of bronchial asthma of four years' duration, without definite relief, I was taken with erysipelas. To commit myself to hospital care would mean serum treatment, meaning an addition of ore poison to a system already burdened with poison. I could not contemplate such old-school methods, and I was too sick to treat myself.

I went home to bed and called Prof. C. A. Isbell, submitted myself to his treatment and had the surprise of my life at the amazing manner in which the ISBELL MINERAL works upon the circulation, aiding the functions of the blood and removing impurities of longest standing. It did for me in five days the work the most skilled scientific (?) medicine would have taken months to accomplish—if at all.

This letter is entirely voluntary and of my own dictation. Its appearance may violate the "ethics' of a profession that is oft times more concerned about being conventionally correct than about being right. But the many thousands of Sacramentans who know me, know that my name is an absolute guarantee of an honest opinion, and I unreservedly place the resources of my good name in endorsement of Isbell Mineral.

Throughout two decades of medical practice I have consistently sought to know the most scientific and practical means of treating the sick. From all my experience I am convinced that the only real remedy we have is our own blood, and whatever cures are effected are by the action and function of the blood, the Life Stream. I challenge anyone to prove different.

I find the most rational and scientific means of keeping the blood in good circulation is by the use of natural mineral. Isbell's Mineral is one of the world's wonders in supplying and maintaining the absorptive function of the blood stream. There may be others as good, but they have not come under my personal observation.

To Whom It May Concern:

This is to tell the value of Isbell's Mineral for which I cannot say too much. Last March I was diagnosed by three doctors as having a tumor in the uterus which required operation. Later, in June. I was told by the same doctors that the tumor had grown greatly, and at that time it gave evidence of being malignant. It had increased in size from 2½ inches in diameter to 5 inches, in four months.

Having known of Prof. Isbell and his fine mineral years ago, we searched till we found him again, and I began taking treatment. I passed about a pint of fibroid tissue, followed by a large object which was in six pieces each as large as a lemon, of dark red substance. My abdomen became smaller, my health immediately regained in that department, and no operation necessary. I credit the Mineral with saving me from cancer. This whole treatment took about six months.

Besides this, my little daughter, 10 years old, passed many worms the second week of taking the mineral, and gained about 12 pounds after that during the summer. We had never even suspected that she had these worms.

This statement is given in the hope that others also may benefited as we have benefited from this wonderful cure.

Sincerely, MRS. ROBERT L. SPENCER,

To Whom It May Concern:
C. A. Isbell ,Manager of Mineral:

With such pain and suffering that caused my hands and feet to draw out of shape, so I could not do my work, dress myself or comb my hair, with a chilly ache to run from my finger tips to my toes every time I would take a long breath. With such pain, I did not sleep good at nights. I started taking Isbell Minerals about the 15th of May, 1947. "Thanks to the dear Lord for sending it my way." The pain was soon gone. About the 15th of July I noticed my hands and my feet were warm and the flesh on them had more life in them. My fingernails and my hair began growing much better.

The Mineral saved me from a $400.00 operation. I had a severe pain in my back and through my female organs. I got the female Capsules. With the first one, a fibrous tumor came from me. The pain was much better. Now I have had 20 fibrous tumors to come from me. I am able to do my own work now.

From 1919 I have known and used in my home the Isbell's Mineral and have found them valuable in relieving different forms of illness and suffering.

A friend was cured almost overnight of an infection contracted in a barber shop which caused his face to swell, and turn black and blue and blisters, and from which he suffered severely.

After getting no relief from a number of remedies, he tried the Isbell's Mineral, applying it at night, and by morning the swelling and discoloration were about gone, the blisters dried up, and after several more applications was fully recovered.

A young lady who had incipient Diabetes took the mineral and was cured according to the doctor's diagnosis. It has never returned.

Another young woman, mother of four children, suffered agonies from arthritis in hands and arms which became dreadfully crippled and in the spine which was being drawn to the left side; and she could no longer work and care for her family, and then was deserted by her husband.

She tried the mineral and later came to tell me that she was cured, the suffering gone, and that she was now working, able to make a living for her children, a happy, grateful mother.

The mineral is a natural remedy, and is as harmless as pure water.

I gave this statement to be of help to others. The night of the 17th my baby, 2 years old, took deathly sick. We called a doctor. He did not come. I called Prof. Isbell for my 2 year old baby had passed out and was as lifeless in my arms as though dead.

Isbell's Mineral caused life to soon return and also caused much gas to leave him. In about an hour he went to sleep, waking up the next morning in about normal health and has been O. K. since. There were five that witnessed his condition when he looked dead.

LOWELL RUSSELL, Now at Vallejo, Calif.

Fresno, Calif., Feb. 10, 1922, 3 P. M.

I began to take Isbell's Mineral half a teaspoon in a glass of water 4 times a day. I took the foot baths and took the enemas, 4 tablespoons of mineral water to the quart of water once a day. I also took some body baths using one package to the bath tub of hot water. It stopped a fever in three days that registered 103, the swelling went out of my hands and feet in 4 days when other remedies had completely failed. My trouble was pronounced Diabetes and Dropsy and sharp needle like pains quit in 3 days and I was out of bed and eating my meals with my family in 10 days. This was after several doctors had given up my case as hopeless.

ALEXANDER AXT.

To whom concerned:

I give this statement to be of help to others for I suffered for years and spent much money doctoring. I had five major operations all together, and no one can begin to realize how I suffered at times, and many times there was no relief at all from these treatments.

A lady friend of mine told me about Isbell Mineral which I got as soon as I could and began to take and use it in full accordance to directions and got the surprise of my life in so many ways, and especially when the worms from 3 to 6 inches long began to come away from me in two days, and in a few days dead tissue and so called fibroid tumors began to come away and my tired all-in feeling and back ache began to let up. My strength gradually returned. I began to take the mineral in January, 1942, and am still taking mineral at times for I find that I can certainly enjoy good health by doing so.

I advised my daughter to take Isbell's Mineral as a tonic 2 times a day commencing about 4 months before child birth this time, and we all got a surprise as to how much easier she went through the ordeal than she did before. two and one half years before at her first child birth. Her last baby now is just 18 days old, very strong and extra good natured.
